elaine davis is a National City native who spent her childhood in her grandmother's house in University Heights that she now uses as her studio. Her figurative paintings reflect her view of society, specifically the isolating effects of modern technology on the human spirit. She attended classes at Grossmont College, Cuyamaca College, Watts Atelier and the Athenaeum. She's participated in exhibitions locally and in Florida, New York, Wyoming, Ohio and Venezuela. Elaine will be displaying her works along with Carlos Castrejon, Lisa Bebi, Jennifer Niles and Maryanna Davis at her studio complex, 4576 Maryland Street.

mario torero is a revered San Diego artist and activist and long time area resident. For several decades he has created murals, sculpture and paintings depicting elements of Latino culture in San Diego and throughout the world. He is the founder or co-founder of the World Beat Center, the Centro de la Raza, Community Arts Center and Chicano Park & Open Air Museum. Awarded Local Hero of 2006 by Union Bank and KPBS, he's been written about in numerous publications. Visit Torero's studio at 4212 Florida Street, where his works and the artworks of his father, Guillermo Acevedo, will be featured.

paul stolte spent 30 years in corporate America before making art his profession. A native of Chicago, he moved to Northern California in 1985 and to San Diego in 1995. A self-taught sculptor, he currently uses wire to portray the human form and spirit. In addition to his wire sculptures, he creates works with ceramics, mosaics, bronze and stone. A student of Clay Association in Normal Heights, his works are on exhibit at the Thistle Gallery in Douglas, Michigan, and Studio Maureen in San Diego. Stolte's recent works will be on display at his studio at 2414 Monroe Avenue.

New Orleans native jaquin joseph seeks to portray her fascination for the natural form both human and otherwise. Her works as a painter & photographer could be described as abstract or something else. Newly arrived in UH, she has established herself in the local arts community. She recently opened a gallery and studio at 2109 El Cajon Boulevard, which will be featuring the works of area artists. Jaquin Joseph's art will be on display at 4355 Florida Street.

A sculptor, brandie maddalena's works focus on existence of the ignored. She's an original founder of the UHAA and an organizer of the Arts Open. After receiving her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the San Francisco Art Institute, she moved to Ensenada, where she developed arts education programs. Her works have been shown in both California and Mexico. As Education Director of the UHAA, Maddalena has created a partnership with Birney Elementary School, and plans a full range of classes at Birney in the coming semester. Brandie Maddalena's works will be seen at her studio at 4170 Tenth Avenue.

borrelli space, 4411 Park Boulevard, is a group of studios for visual artists designed and built by Michael Borrelli. The six second floor studios and gallery space has become an active part of the UH community. Seven artists occupy the studio space. Dorothy Annette, Arts Open Event Coordinator, is a painter, printmaker, ceramist and singer. Jim Hammond is a sculptor, printmaker and book artist. Jeanne Dunn, Pat MacGillis, Linda Feldman, Cindy Clark and Art Sueltz are all painters. Although their work is distinctively different, the pursuit of truth is evident in everyone's work. Each artist's aesthetic is so distinctive, one is able to recognize his or her work at a glance.

jim hammond received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from San Diego State with emphasis in sculpture and printmaking. His works include paintings, graphic arts and publishing. His public art is sometimes a collaboration with RevArte, a bi-national arts group creating arts in San Diego and Mexico. Having created various arts publications, Hammond is currently developing ArtesArts, a bilingual arts magazine that will feature artists from Los Angeles to Ensenada, Mexico. Jim will be showing his works at BorrelliSpace, 4411 Park Boulevard.

A native San Diegan who's lived in University Heights for several years, weston riffle is a mostly self-taught painter who describes himself as an anti-artist. He creates paintings which portray the heroism of the individual. Riffle's works have been exhibited in solo and group shows throughout California. Many of his paintings are on display at the San Diego Hospice and OB People's Market. He recently completed a mural with Birney School students entitled "read". His works will be displayed at 4327 Maryland Street.

Currently living and working in University Heights, bridget routree studied in Florence, Italy with two South African women, Rose Gavronsky and Claire Shakinovsky. She explores self awareness with her drawings, paintings, sculpture and mixed media works, which have been shown throughout the region. She teaches figurative drawing at the San Diego Art Department. Bridget Rountree will be displaying her works at her studio, located at 4611 North Avenue.

cindy clarke is the newest member of BorrelliSpace on Park Boulevard. Cindy earned a degree in Political Science from USC. During a semester in France, she noticed she spent more time at the Atelier de Beaux Arts, studying art instead of world politics. After college, she worked for seven years as a mural artist in San Diego. She considers these years instrumental in her development as a painter. Cindy's art is about enjoying life. The little things we relish and anticipate in life are what she finds irresistible as subjects for her art. One of her goals as an artist is to make people smile, and to recall fond memories.
